Editor’s note

It is a pleasure to serve a term as editor of Norsk Geologisk Tidsskrift, following our previous editors Eiliv Larsen and Ola M. Sæther. Over the past few years they have led the journal through several important changes. NGT has expanded its page format, its cover appearance, its readership, and the number of submitted manuscripts. Although bigger is not necessarily better, there is no doubt that each of these changes has been an improvement.

Now the editorial board is being expanded. The previous editors and editorial board have invited a number of geologists whose work we greatly respect to lend their names to the journal for a period of five years. The members of the new editorial board are listed on the inside front cover. We anticipate that their main contribution will be to help highlight the international profile of NGT and to help direct more top quality manuscripts to publication here. We think of NGT as an “International Journal of Norwegian Geology”. Although most of our published articles could well appear in other journals, we hope to make NGT the first choice for all authors of papers directly related to Norwegian topics.

The quality of the journal and our short publication time is dependent not just on the quality of the manuscripts submitted but on the conscientious and time-consuming efforts of our referees. To help acknowledge their contribution, we list the names of referees who have evaluated manuscripts published (or rejected!) during the past year. We look forward to further cooperation with them, and with others.

Allan Krill
